Application For Farm Residence Property Tax Exemption Instructions

SFN 24737 (11-2023)

Purpose of form

Use this application form to apply for either of the following two farm residence property tax exemptions:

- Farmer's residence exemption under N.D.C.C. § 57-02-08(15)(b).
- Farm worker residence exemption under N.D.C.C. § 57-02-08(15)(a).

A new application form must be filed each year to continue the exemption.

Eligible residence

The residence must be located on a farm for purposes of the farmer's residence exemption or on agricultural land as part of a farm plant for purposes of the farm worker residence exemption. Following are special situations in which a residence is eligible or not eligible for exemption.

Residence on unplatted land.

A residence located on unplatted land within the boundaries of an incorporated city is eligible for exemption if it (1) is located on agricultural land, (2) is used as a farmer's residence or is part of a farm plant, and (3) otherwise satisfies the exemption requirements.

Residence on platted land.

A residence located on platted land within the boundaries of an incorporated city or on railroad operating property is not eligible for exemption.

Bed and breakfast.

A residence in which a bed and breakfast is operated is eligible for exemption provided the farmer resides in it and the other requirements for exemption are satisfied.

Vacant residence.

A vacant residence is eligible for exemption if, at the time it was last occupied or used, it was exempt as a farmer's residence or as part of a farm plant. A vacant residence becomes ineligible for exemption upon non-qualifying occupation or use.

Farm worker residence exemption

A residence is eligible for exemption from property tax as a farm structure under N.D.C.C. § 57-02-08(15)(a) if all of the following conditions apply:

- It is located on agricultural lands.
- It is part of a farm plant.
- It is used to provide housing for an employee who is paid wages as a farm worker.

Farmer's residence exemption

A residence is eligible for exemption from property tax under N.D.C.C. § 57-02-08(15)(b) if it is located on a farm and is occupied or used by a farmer.

Farm

The term "farm" means a single tract or contiguous tracts of land containing 10 or more acres on which a farmer carries on operations normally associated with farming and ranching.

Farmer

The term "farmer" means an individual who satisfies the following requirements:

- The individual normally devotes the major portion of his or her time to the activities of producing, in their unmanufactured state, products of the soil (except marijuana grown under N.D.C.C. Ch. 19-24.1), dairy farming, poultry, or livestock (including nontraditional livestock defined under N.D.C.C. § 36-01-00.1).
- The individual and spouse, if married, received annual gross income from farming activities which is 66% or more of their annual gross income during either of the two preceding calendar years. Gross income as defined by N.D.C.C. § 57-02-08(15)(b)(3).
- The individual must complete and provide a Statement of Farm Gross Income to demonstrate compliance with this requirement. See "Statement of Farm Gross Income" later in these instructions.

The above requirements describe an active farmer. Subject to certain conditions, the term "farmer" also includes a beginning farmer, retired farmer, and surviving spouse of a farmer, each of which is described below.

Beginning farmer.

A "beginning farmer" means an individual who begins occupation and operation of a farm to which he or she normally devotes the major portion of time to farming and who did not have any income or loss from a farm operation in either of the two preceding calendar years.

Retired farmer.

A "retired farmer" means an individual living in the residence who is retired because of illness or age and owned and occupied the residence as a farmer at the time of retirement. It does not include an individual who quit farming to change occupations. A retired farmer's residence remains eligible for the exemption even though the farm's acreage decreases below 10 acres after retirement provided the residence qualified for exemption at the time of retirement.

Surviving spouse.

A "surviving spouse of a farmer" means an individual living in the residence who is the surviving spouse of a deceased individual who, at the time of death, owned and occupied the residence as a farmer. If the deceased individual was an active farmer at time of death, the exemption is only available for the first five years following the year of death. If the deceased individual was a retired farmer at time of death, the exemption is available for as long as the surviving spouse continuously occupies the residence.

Statement of Farm Gross Income

If an exemption is being applied for under the active farmer requirements, the individual occupying the residence must complete a Statement of Farm Gross Income to show compliance with the farm gross income requirement in one of the two calendar years preceding the year for which the exemption is being requested. A married occupant must include the spouse's gross income in the calculation. The source of the farm gross income is not limited to the particular tract or contiguous tracts on which the residence is located; all farm and nonfarm gross income, regardless of source, must be included.

Submit the Statement of Farm Gross Income with the application for the farm residence exemption, which is due February 1 of the year for which the exemption is being requested. If the statement cannot be filed with the application form by February 1, it must be submitted no later than March 31 of the year for which the exemption is being requested.

When and where to file

The application must be filed on or before February 1 of the year for which the exemption is being requested. File the application with the assessor's office for the county in which the farm residence is located.
